PSEG of Long Island has a special program for Critical Care. If you qualify you must contact PSEG directly pursuant to the following message from PSEG Long Island:

In unforeseen circumstances or severe weather, electrical outages may occur. If this should occur, every effort will be made to restore your electricity as soon as possible.

Critical Care does not guarantee priority restoration of service and there may be certain instances when timely restoration is difficult.

It is of the utmost importance that you develop a plan now because it is your responsibility to ensure that medical needs are addressed in the event of a power outage.

If you or a member of your family rely on life-support equipment, filing a medical certificate from your doctor or local Board of Health with us is important

Please be certain to let us know about any life-support equipment by calling 1-800-490-0025

1. File a medical certificate with us from a doctor or the local Board of Health
2. We can then mark your account and tag your meter as “Critical Care”
3. When we anticipate a severe storm, we will call you so that you can make advanced preparations.

The following are devices that meet the medical criteria for life-support equipment:

Apnea Monitor
